EMBEDDED RECIPES De Nice

What is it?

Embedded Recipes (ER) is a small-scale conference that grew out of the tradition of the popular Kernel Recipes conference. Our main goal is to host an annual event in France which creates opportunities to meet and learn from key developers and thought leaders in the embedded open source software world.

We focus on a broad range of embedded software topics from microcontrollers and RTOSes to the Linux kernel, multimedia, AI/ML accelerators as well as all the layers, and protocols in between, with a strong focus on open source solutions.

Another strong emphasis of ER is maximizing human connections :
- Reduced audience : 150-200 people
- Single track, single room : all participants attend the same set of talks
- Face-to-face interactions during breaks, lunch and social events.

Some facts from previous edition :
- 2 full days of technical talks
- 90 attendees
- 14 speakers
- 16 sponsors
- 5 staff

What's new this year :
- Moving from Paris to Nice
- Adding a 3rd day for workshops

Host a Workshop: €1000 (NEW for 2025)

The first 2 days of ER are for technical talks, but on the 3rd day, we have a few rooms available to host a technical workshop or a hacking day for 10-15 people. The workshop sponsor will host and organize the technical content for the day. ER organizers will provide the meeting space, coffee and snacks. Please contact us ASAP as the available space for workshops is almost full already.
